

A diagram showing a light blue rectangular container with a black border. Inside the container, on the left, is a white rectangular box with a red border containing the word "include". To the right of this box, within the same container, is the word "code".

include

code